About Boutique Travel Advisors

<https://travelbta.com/>

At Boutique Travel Advisors, we believe luxury travel goes beyond welcome chocolates on pillows & first-class seats. Luxury travel can be subjective. To us, the definition of luxury travel embodies having the privilege to explore & experience the infinitely possible wonderments the world has to offer when we decide to mindfully venture outside of our comfort zone in our home environment.

From booking bespoke safaris in South Africa, serenely scenic river cruises through France's waterways, to private wine (+ pasta) tastings on the Amalfi Coast... BTA strives to curate each personalized itinerary with credible expertise, dedicated service & the whole-hearted intention for each traveler to exceed their travel goals and expectations while on the adventure of a lifetime.

BTA is proudly a women-owned & run company. Co-owners and luxury travel curators, Janet Semenova and Angie Rice, use a thorough 5-step process to seamlessly design & tailor YOUR travel experience: explore, imagine, build, journey, reflect.

Your BTA travel itinerary is more than a document of scheduled flights, tours, and dinner reservations. It is the motherboard, the holy grail, the backbone of a transformational journey that turns your individual, subjective experiences into heart-warming, thought-provoking, jaw-dropping, life-changing memories that are worthy of being cherished for a lifetime.

Our purpose is to make your travel dreams come true... We are here to make your every step along the way uncomplicated, stress-free, and wildly exciting. All we ask is, where will your journey take you?

Tropical And Beach Vacation Packing List

Here are our packing suggestions for a tropical vacation:

- Lightweight beach bag
- Reusable water bottle
- Toothbrush/paste/mouthwash
- Mineral SPF sunscreen, we love Blue Lizard or Colorescience as well as these reef-safe sunscreen options (bonus tip: don't forget to apply every two hours for maximum sun protection!)
- Aloe Vera
- Insect repellent
- Over-the-Counter Medications; Tylenol, Alka Seltzer, Benadryl, etc.
- Magnesium Rich Trace Minerals (important for staying well-hydrated while on vacation)
- Electrolyte Tablets (also replenishing + very handy for the morning after having a couple of those irresistible fruity cocktails, thank us later!)
- Hair detangler/detangling spray
- Sunglasses
- Wide-brimmed sun hat

- Water shoes (useful for watersports and to protect against slippery rocks, sharp coral, or spiky sea urchins)
- Flip flops/sandals
- Athletic wear shoes
- Athleisure
- Bathing suits
- For women: comfortable tanks, blouses, shorts, dresses, sundresses, beach cover-ups
- For men: breathable t-shirts, short-sleeved button-down shirts, chinos, khakis
- Lightweight jacket, hoodie, sweater, scarf-wrap (it can get breezy at night time or rainy depending on the season)
- Gear for scuba diving & snorkeling (although many resorts offer them free of charge)
- Bluetooth Speaker
- Headphones or earbuds
- Kindle Reader or paperback books
- Portable charger & any device charging cables
- Underwater camera / GoPro
- Anything else you need to feel your best while on your tropical getaway.

PACKING TIP: To free up more space in your suitcase or carry-on, roll your clothes instead of folding them.

When packing for a tropical climate, think of the 4 L's:

- Layers
- Leisure
- Lightweight
- Linen (+ cotton and any other breathable fabrics that won't make you sweat more like synthetic polyester and nylon)

We recommend not overpacking and utilizing your casual/sporty vacation wardrobe to adhere to the warm climate & extent of activities you plan on partaking in. While you'll mostly be lounging around and embracing the beauty and simplicity of island life, if there is any chance of celebrating a more elegant evening, you will want the option to dress up and show off your sunkissed glow!

But when it comes to style, the best answer lies in whatever YOU feel most comfortable & confident in, all while enjoying your vacation to the fullest!

U.S. Dollar to Euro Conversion

Gratuities in Greece, while extremely welcome and appreciated, are not as much 'expected' as they are in other countries and are totally optional.

If you are happy with the service you have enjoyed and would like to show your gratitude to the people who made it a very special experience for you here below you can find the amounts we recommend for Tour Guides, Drivers and other special services.

Tour Guide Half Day Euro 20.00

Tour Guide Full Day Euro 30,00

Driver Half Day Euro 20.00

Driver Full Day Euro 30.00

Housekeeping staff 2 Euro/day

Hotel staff, such as porters, should be tipped about 2 Euro per bag for taking your bags to/from your room.

The above amounts are to be considered per service and not per person. Fiscal laws in Europe are extremely tough on this matter and this is the reason why these amounts cannot be included in the service costs and have to be paid in cash directly to the suppliers.

If you would like to ‘tip like a local’ at bars and restaurants then we suggest just leaving the change ie if your meal costs Euro 56 then just leave Euro 4; if the meal costs Euro 92 then just leave the Euro 8 change. However, if you are very happy with the service a tip of 10% is considered adequate.

Greek Cuisine - Guide To Ordering Food In Greece

Image credits: Louis Hansel on Unsplash

Have you been dreaming of an overdue escape to a Mediterranean Greek island with white-washed villages, stunning sunsets, beautiful resorts, and incredible cuisine? Greece is famous for many things. Its impressive architecture, remarkable statues, and gigantic pillars carved with intricate designs have certainly left an impression on everyone who has visited this country. And we do owe it to Greece for almost every advancement in culture, literature, art, and history. But you won't find one of Greece's greatest national treasures in a museum, art gallery, or beach club. Instead, you will find it right on your plate.

Greek cuisine is one of the finest, tastiest, and most unique in the world. Unfortunately, understanding traditional Greek cuisine can seem overwhelming. Authentic cuisine is regional, seasonal, and exceptionally nuanced.

Often, the menus at the charming little restaurants, perched on craggy cliffs, in fishing villages bear little resemblance to the dishes served at American-Greek restaurants or portrayed in movies like "My Big Fat Greek Wedding."

Since ancient times, the Greeks understood the principles of agriculture and nutrition. As a result, Greek diets revolve around Mediterranean ingredients, rich traditional recipes, and diverse cultural influences. Ancient recipes were passed down from generation to generation and new methods, ingredients, and cooking styles melded with traditional ones. To help you understand Greek cuisine, we've compiled a list of all the Greek food you need to try and everything you need to know about eating in Greece.

First The Ingredients

Influenced by centuries of occupation and trade with neighboring countries from the East and West, traditional Greek cuisine features a distinct variety of tastes. Most dishes incorporate fresh, leafy vegetables and cured meat. In ancient Greece, the most common trio of ingredients found on the dinner tables were figs, olives, and bread. Although these ingredients still infuse many dishes, advancements in farming, trade, and access to a wider variety of spices, meats, and dairy products greatly enhanced traditional cuisine. Nuts, beans, oils, legumes, fruits, vegetables, cheese, and butter are abundant. Greek chefs also adapted Italy's love of garlic. Many dishes utilize garlic mixed with thyme, oregano, mint, basil, dill, parsley, and more.

Coastal regions take advantage of their access to the sea to prepare exquisite seafood dishes. While lamb, goat, and pork receive copious amounts of attention inland.

Although it would be impossible to cover the diversity of Greek cuisine in one article, we compiled a list of our favorite Greek specialties.

Amygdalota Almond Cookie

The Amygdalota means “(a) sweet (taken) from almonds,” and this almond treat is a naturally gluten-free cookie. It’s interesting to note that the idea that cookie dough tastes better than the cookie goes back centuries. Now baked in various forms, the sweet cookie was initially served unbaked as a mixture of sugar, flour, almonds, and water.

Can you picture ancient Greeks serving raw cookie dough at a neighborhood party or children sneaking morsels of the tasty dough when their mothers were not looking? But, don’t worry, this traditional Greek cuisine confection is now available in almost every city, baked to perfection.

Dolmadakia/Dolmades (Stuffed Grape Leaves)

Driven from the Turkish word dolma, meaning filling, Dolmadakia is a savory street food made of ground beef or lamb mixed with rice and rolled up in grape leaves. If you think about it, this is probably where the burrito gets its origins. However, the recipe of traditional Dolmadakia originates from Turkish cuisine. Depending on available ingredients and seasonality, different varieties of Dolmades emerged.

Tzatziki (Dip/Soup/Sauce)

It turns out the Greeks really were ahead of time! Tzatziki is a traditional dip made from strained yogurt, dill, garlic, olive oil, and salt. Generations of Greeks used it as an appetizer with their fried food.

Depending on who you ask, Tzatziki is either a modification of the Turkish dip, the Cacik, or an original Greek recipe.

To give a bit of historical context, The Ottoman Empire ruled over Greece from the mid-15th century until the Greek War of Independence in 1821. During this period, all Greek foods received Turkish names. Therefore, many Greek dishes still retain Turkish nomenclature. But while disputes about the origin may continue for a few more centuries, the undeniably delicious taste of this delectable sauce brings everyone to the same table.

Gemista or Yemista (Stuffed Tomatoes)

Hearty, delicious, and bursting with vibrant flavors, Gemista is a stuffing mixture of ground meat, spices, and herbs, all precisely packed inside a tomato. The traditional Greek cuisine recipe for Gemista falls under the category of dishes called “Ladera.” These dishes are prepared with olive oil. A generous drizzle of extra virgin olive oil helps this stuffed delicacy tenderly bake to delicious perfection.

While traditional Gemista calls for tomatoes, many restaurants serve the same filling stuffed in peppers and served with a side of feta cheese.

Kolokythokeftedes (Courgette Balls)

Zucchini (courgettes) are the star ingredient in Kolokythokeftedes. Infused with flavorful mint, dill, salt, and other local spices, the Kolokythokeftedes come in two forms: balls and patties. Either way, the dish is a fast-selling appetizer dully found at high-end restaurants and in any Greek taverna during summer. Paired with the cool Tzatziki, yogurt, or feta, the Kolokythokeftedes is a finger-licking delight.

Souvlaki (Skewered Pork)

Does the name give it away? Souvlaki is fast food with ancient origins, now served by most street vendors and food trucks in Greece. The skewered kebab-like recipe existed as favorite fast food in ancient Greece, even referenced by Homer.

Excavation in Akrotiri on the island of Santorini also unearthed stone sets of barbecues for skewers used before the 17th century BC.

Typically made from marinated pork spit-roasted on a skewer, restaurants serve Souvlaki with light pitta bread, tomatoes, and Tzatziki. Souvlaki can also be made from lamb or goat meat instead of pork and is popular among the Greeks. So take it to go and enjoy a leisurely lunch in the park overlooking the Acropolis or sit in the local shop and savor a quick bite of traditional Greek cuisine on the go.

Fun Facts and Myths about Greek Cuisine

Milk and Meat Were Considered Barbaric, and Wine Was Watered Down

Many of the most popular and famous Greek dishes prominently feature wine, dairy, and meat. Ancient Greeks, however, viewed meat and milk with disdain. Greeks mainly consumed meat at religious festivals when they sacrificed their animals to the gods and then ate the meat following the ceremonies. Although ancient Greeks drank wine, they generally watered it down.

Ancient Greeks also preferred to process milk to make cheese and butter rather than drink it.

In the "Odyssey," Homer showcases his contempt for drinking milk. He makes his one-eyed monster Cyclops consume milk as a nutritional substitute for eating men.

Sweet New Year

We've heard of the Otoshidama tradition of Japan, where grown-ups hand kids are packets of money. In Greece, the practice takes a sweeter turn with cake.

Greeks celebrate New Year's by baking a Vasilopita cake filled with cream and coins for good luck.

Vasilopita is dedicated to Saint Basil, who collected money and valuables from citizens to conquer a siege. Luckily, the siege never happened, and since St. Basil didn't know what belonged to whom, he put these valuables inside loaves of bread and distributed them evenly. Miraculously, each valuable found its way to the rightful owner, and this began the tradition of baking sweet cakes filled with money to represent strength, richness, and luck.

Breaking the Ice with Raki

Raki is an alcoholic drink, usually served chilled as a sign of hospitality. Like most things in Greece, this spirit dates back to ancient times, with pottery from the Minoan and Mycenaean civilizations showcasing its use. You'll find this drink most commonly in Crete but consider it more than merely a warm welcome and a toast. Instead, think of it as the Greek's way of introducing you to their culture, inviting you to celebrate traditions. In addition, the shots have sentimental value; the first represents appetite, the second asks for health, the third brings joy, and so on.

Don't be surprised if the restaurant owner joins you for a drink, tells you a few stories, then sends you home with a bottle of homemade Raki.

Throwing Plates for Celebration

You're probably aware of the 'plate smashing' custom of the Greeks; who hasn't heard of the Greeks breaking plates and ceramics to celebrate? Traditionally, this breaking of plates is believed to be an expression of sorrow or joy or even warding off evil spirits, but it turns out this common custom is only a myth.

The only restaurants which break plates do so to entertain tourists, and you'll witness most Greeks actually throw flowers or don't throw anything at all.

Food Enmity Between Athens and Sparta

Another common notion is that Athenian food differed and still differs from ancient Spartan and contemporary Greek states. Tourists claim they still taste a distinct difference in the food. The truth is the food in these two city-states was nearly identical, but Athenians had higher quality products. Sparta and Athens were strong rivals, explaining the food variations as these two may not have willingly shared produce. The truth is, Sparta's food was simply lower quality.

Don't Say No...to food!

Greek cuisine is pretty light to consume, which is why you'll notice everyone goes in for several helpings. However, you might offend the host if you reject their offer for more food or extra helpings. On the other hand, Greeks are very hospitable, which is why they'll keep filling your plate. So go on and eat to your heart's content. After all, how often do you get to experience traditional Greek cuisine in Greece?

Restaurant Recommendation Mykonos

Image credits: Annie Spratt on Unsplash

1. Nammos

ADDRESS

Psarou Beach, Mikonos 846 00, Greece

Nammos is, without a doubt, one of the trendiest restaurants in Mykonos. Expect crowds of visiting socialites and well-dressed locals for one of the best day-to-night parties on the island.

Nammos contains a formal dining area (serving Italian-Greek fusion), a beautiful lounge, and an outdoor beach club. Start with dinner, a glass (or two) of wine, and then prepare for the music to turn up as this restaurant turns into a beachside club.

Food-wise, you can expect fresh, whole-grilled fish caught daily in the Aegean, sushi, sashimi, and a dizzying array of mezze—from fried zucchini to eggplant mille-feuille with feta cheese mousse.

2. Scorpios Mykonos

ADDRESS

Paraga, Mikonos 846 00, Greece

What better way is there to watch the sun set than with a cocktail in hand and live music in the background at Scorpios Mykonos? This lifestyle commune embodies the holistic message of sun worshipping hedonism with a beach club, restaurant, and boutique hotel. Indeed it's far more than just a restaurant. It's a self-proclaimed “gathering place” at the intersection of food, music, community, crafts, and more.

A mix of Burning Man and DJ-curated beach club, their summer parties lure some of the best music talent to the island. Spend the early evening hours swaying to the beats, then sit down at one of the communal tables in the open-air restaurant for delicious, sea-to-table Mediterranean fare with organic, locally-sourced ingredients.

3. Bowl Restaurant/Cafe

ADDRESS

Ornos 846 00, Greece

Snag breakfast, brunch, or a light lunch at this health-forward café run by Australian husband-and-wife team Victoria and Robert Fisher. The menu features signature "brekkie" bowls and avocado toast inspired by the early morning meal Down Under, in addition to a diverse selection of internationally-inspired dishes that skew Mexican, Greek, Indian, and Thai.

More information

4. Tasos Taverna

ADDRESS

Mikonos 846 00, Greece

Tasos has been dishing out classic Greek fare on Paraga Beach since 1962. Seafood is where they shine (diners walk up to the tank to select which fish they'd like to enjoy that night), but there's also a selection of charcoal-grilled meats and other Zakynthos local foods.

More information

5. Nikolas Taverna

ADDRESS

Mikonos 846 00, Greece

Nikolas opened the doors of his taverna in 1967 by Paraga Beach, and it has been passed down from generation-to-generation since then. Today, you can find the same classic Greek seafood that it became known for over fifty years ago.

More information

6. Raya Restaurant

ADDRESS

Akti Kampani, Mykonos, Kyklades, Greece, Mikonos 846 00, Greece

Raya is an all-day restaurant sitting on the west coast of the island, right by the port bay near the shore of Mykonos Town. Expect elegant—but accessible—local dishes like Greek bruschetta, fried zucchini, shrimp risotto, and a slew of salads. There's also a dedicated vegan and vegetarian menu.

More information

7. Alemagou Beach Bar Restaurant

ADDRESS

Greece, Mikonos 846 00, Greece

Laid-back-bohemian is the atmosphere you'll find at Alemàgou, an all-day beach bar and restaurant in Ftelia. We recommend spending the whole day here, swimming, eating, and enjoying an early aperitivo.

More information

8. Nikkei Mykonos Peruvian Experience Restaurant

ADDRESS

Mattheou Andronikou, Mikonos 846 00, Greece

Located in the center of town, Nikkei specializes in fusion Peruvian fare prepared using Japanese techniques. With small tables under a charming flowered awning, it's the perfect spot for a laid-back dinner.

More information

9. The Liberty Breakfast Room

ADDRESS

the liberty breakfast room, Mikonos 846 00, Greece

Although Liberty is an all-day café, breakfast is the most bustling meal at this cozy restaurant with sweeping, pinch-me-this-can't-be-real views of the Aegean sea. Whether you go savory (poached eggs on brown bread with Naxos Gruyère cheese) or sweet (Nutella pancakes, for the win!), you'll be in good hands.

More information

10. Farma Mykonos

ADDRESS

Ftelia, Mikonos 846 00, Greece

Part-farm, part-restaurant, Farma sources ingredients for its hyper-seasonal menu from the inner garden that surrounds it at Ftelia Bay—one that's speckled with olive groves. The menu of traditional Greek dishes changes daily.

More information

11. Kiki's Taverna

ADDRESS

Southern Aegean, Mikonos 846 00, Greece

There's almost always crowds of locals waiting for a table at this popular tavern tucked away on the north side of the island within walking distance from Agios Sostis Beach. While they don't take reservations, the Greek/Mediterranean food is worth the wait—especially the steaks cooked outdoors in a traditional oven.

More information

12. Hippie Fish

ADDRESS

Agios Ioannis, Mikonos 846 00, Greece

This funky beach restaurant and bar is the perfect spot for a late lunch that'll lead you right into a dreamy sunset watch over Agios Ioannis Beach. It's not hectic, and it's a great place to relax for the whole day. The menu zeroes in on Greek food, with some international flair in the form of crab, salmon, shrimp, tuna, and veggie maki rolls.

More information

13. Tsaf

ADDRESS

Ano Mera 846 00, Greece

This eclectic seafood spot sits at the heart of Ano Mera Village—the second biggest town on Mykonos island that still manages to retain a charming, small-town feel. Lunch on fresh oysters, shrimp, scallops, pasta, and more as you overlook the village square.

More information

14. Kazarma

ADDRESS

Akti Kampani (Old Port), Mikonos 846 00, Greece

Kazarma's variety of Italian, Greek, and Mediterranean recipes is not to be missed—think pizza, crispy veggies drizzled with honey, eggplant baked with feta, burgers, and pasta. Bonus points for its laid-back atmosphere.

More information

15. Principote

ADDRESS

Panormos Beach,, Mikonos 846 00, Greece

Principote in Mykonos is where you want to eat every meal.

This gorgeous beach club is a dream come true, with fantastic views of the stunning ocean, comfortable beach furniture, and relaxing ambiance. Sample the delicious food of the Mediterranean as you unwind, sip on a crisp wine, and gaze out at the dazzling beach.

More information

16. Kalita Restaurant

ADDRESS

N. KALOGERA 31, Mikonos 846 00, Greece

Nestled in the inner garden of a boutique hotel that bears the same name, Kalita boasts quality food, a laid-back atmosphere, an eclectic crowd, and fantastic Greek recipes. Be sure to take advantage of the extensive wine list of local vintages, as well as the creative cocktails. Food-wise, don't miss the goat cheese-stuffed angel hair rolls, deep-fried zucchini, and sweet baklava mille-feuille.

More information

17. Appaloosa Bar & Restaurant

ADDRESS

Mikonos 846 00, Greece

Mexican and Mykonos may not sound like the most natural combination, but the crowds of locals swarming Appaloosa for a feast of burritos, tacos, and guac say otherwise. There's nothing fancy about it, which is part of its charm. It's cute, simple, and always full of Greek families.

More information

18. La Maison de Katrin

ADDRESS

Νίκου, Δρακοπολού 1, Mikonos 846 00, Greece

For a family-curated mix of Greek and French cuisine, head to La Maison de Katrin. It's on the pricier side (with reservations required), but well worth it for its warm atmosphere and diverse selection of traditional Hellenic and fusion appetizers, fish, seafood, meat, and more.

More information

19. Casa di Giorgio

ADDRESS

Mitropoleos 1, Hora 846 00, Greece

You can't go wrong with great pizza, pasta, and risotto at Casa de Giorgio—a chill spot in town for a no-frills Italian dinner at an affordable price. Located in Mykonos town on Mitropoleos Street, it's an ideal location for a post-dinner stroll.

More information

20. Sea Satin Market

ADDRESS

Little Venice, Mikonos 846 00, Greece

For a quintessential Greek experience (think smashing plates and throwing flowers), bring the whole gang to Sea Satin for a fun night out that you won't soon forget. The food skews classic Greek, and the dancing starts later at night—so it's best to arrive on the early side if you're dining with kids.

Mykonos Taxis

Although it may not be the cheapest option, taking a taxi to get around the island is the easiest and fastest way.

There are around 34 taxis on Mykonos that can be found at all the main tourist spots, taxi ranks or simply driving around the streets for you to flag down.

Taxis in Mykonos use a taximeter to calculate most journeys around the city unless you're coming from a port or the airport, then you may be able to snag a set-rate fee.

As Mykonos is a fairly small island, the rates of their taxis are heavily monitored and regulated. Taxis in Mykonos use a taximeter to calculate your fee based on the distance traveled.

There are two different rates, Tariff 1, which is from 05:00 to 24:00 and Tariff 2, which is from 24:00 to 05:00.

Finally, if you'd prefer to wait indoors for your taxi, you can call the Taxi Centre on +30 22890 23700 or +30 22890 22400 and a representative will send out your cab. Bear in mind that this service will have an extra charge.

Top 12 Unique and Off-The-Beaten-Path Things to Do in Mykonos

<https://travelbta.com/top-12-unique-and-off-the-beaten-path-things-to-do-in-mykonos/>

Are you heading to Mykonos but feel concerned that it will be overly touristy and crowded, and you will not be able to immerse yourself into local Greek culture and traditions fully? We have you covered keep reading for our list of the top 12 unique and off-the-beaten-path things to do in Mykonos!

Take a Biking Tour (or E-bike) around the island.

All of you, who are looking for a bit of adventure and cannot wait to explore as much of the island as possible, should consider booking a biking tour; or even better, if you want to be a sustainable and environmentally conscious traveler how about an E-bike! This full-day tour will take you on a fantastic journey through the island.

From visiting local vineyards to having a delicious traditional Greek meal, a bike tour is one of the best unique and off-the-beaten-path things to do in Mykonos. Families traveling with children and teenagers alike will love exploring lesser-known parts of the island. Instead of dealing with the tourist crowds, discover uncrowded trails and hidden beaches we guarantee you this is a once-in-a-lifetime experience!

Watch the Sunset from the Windmills

No trip to Mykonos would be complete without watching the sunset from the Windmills. While almost 20 windmills spread across the island, the most popular ones are located on top of a hill near the island's capital Chora! Not only are the windmills the most iconic symbol of the island, but they are also conveniently located to overlook the endless blues of the Mediterranean Sea.

If you are taking a honeymoon in Mykonos or a romantic getaway, this experience should definitely be at the top of your to-do list. Visiting just before sunset is a great idea, as you will get to admire the jaw-dropping panoramic scenery while standing beneath Mykonos' most recognizable attraction!

Visit Delos

Although the island of Mykonos offers a plethora of activities, travelers seeking off-the-beaten-path experiences will want to take a day trip to Delos. Visiting the archaeological site of Delos is a must-do for history buffs and one of the top unique things to do in Mykonos. As soon as you stop at the uninhabited island of Delos, you will be transported back in time. As a UNESCO World Heritage Site, Delos was once a religious and cultural center. Today, visitors can explore the ruins of ancient markets, amphitheaters, temples, and incredible mosaics.

Taking a half-day trip to Delos is one of the best ways to immerse yourself and learn more about Greek history and culture. Families traveling with children will love the educational opportunities the excursion offers, while adult travelers will enjoy learning about the island's rich culture and historical past.

Take a photography tour in Little Venice

Are you thinking of going on a honeymoon in Mykonos? You won't want to miss Little Venice. As one of the most romantic and iconic districts in Mykonos, Little Venice is calling all photography enthusiasts. Magnificent old houses with white-washed facades and colorful balconies and doors are sitting right on the edge of the Aegean Sea. As sundown approaches, the golden hour illuminates the water and the buildings beautifully and allows all photographers to capture incredible images.

Capture the scenes and looks of local streets, shops, and people for even more spectacular photos, which tell the story of Mykonos! These are the images you would be taking home as souvenirs from your trip to Greece!

Spend an afternoon at a beach club

It seems like the sun is always shining in Mykonos! So, what better way to experience the island than spending an entire afternoon at a beach club. And of course, we have the best suggestion for you head to Scorpios on Paraga Beach. Ok, so this may not be the most unique and off-the-beaten-path activity in Mykonos, but it's still a lot of fun!

Honeymooners and couples traveling together will enjoy spending a day lounging beachside. While the bar located next to the crystal clear waters of the sea offers various seating options. Grab a delicious cocktail and sunbathe on their comfortable loungers. Not only this, but with just a few steps, you can also dip your toes into the refreshing waters or even go for a swim! Can you imagine anything better on a hot summer day?

Go wine tasting

One of the best unique and authentic things to do in Mykonos is a wine tasting tour. True, the island may not be the most significant wine producer globally. Still, they carefully preserve and pass on the secrets of local wine-making techniques from one generation to another.

The local wineries offer a small but incredible list of authentic local wines unavailable to the general public. These wineries grow healthy, fresh, and organic grapes. Superior quality and great flavors are captured inside each bottle so make sure to visit at least one local winery and treat yourself to a world-class wine tasting session.

Visit Ano Mera Village

Suppose you want to embark on an adventure away from the tourist crowds and experience the authentic vibe of Mykonos. In that case, you should pay a visit to Ano Mera. Unfortunately, the island's visitors often neglect Ano Mera as a tiny village. Do not make this mistake, however. Head to Ano Mera Village and admire the incredible white-washed buildings lining the narrow cobblestone streets.

Allow yourself to get lost between the quaint alleys and stumble upon small souvenir shops and local art galleries. Try to talk to the locals and fully experience Ano Mera Village's relaxed and slow-paced life. This is truly one of the most unique and off-the-beaten-path activities in Mykonos.

Spend the Morning at the Panagia Tourliani Monastery

As one of the most famous sights in Mykonos, the Monastery of Panagia Tourliani is an absolute must-see. Head early in the morning if you want to skip the crowds and avoid the heat. Spend a few minutes just admiring the beautiful white-washed 16th-century exterior before heading inside. The interior is equally impressive. Every element resembles an art masterpiece, from the 18th-century wooden iconostasis to the unique incense holders with silver dragons! The Panagia Tourliani Monastery should be part of your travel itinerary if you love history or religious sites with significant value!

Families traveling with children to Mykonos will enjoy visiting the Monastery. Be sure to book a creative and engaging guide to keep the kids and adults entertained.

Discover the Underworld Universe

Are you an adventure seeker? If the answer is yes, scuba diving is one of the most unique things to do in Mykonos. It is not enough just admiring the incredibly blue waters of the Aegean Sea when you can dive straight into the underworld and take a glimpse of the sea wildlife. Colorful fish and incredible corals, and lost ships are hiding under the surface of the water. Book this class if you want to be taken along a magnificent underwater journey. This is something you will remember long after you have gone back home! A good travel agent should be able to get this experience lined up for you.

Families traveling with teenagers can sign up for beginner scuba classes or get certified before your trip and take full advantage of all the island has to offer.

Take a Culinary Journey

One of the most authentic and unique ways to experience a new culture is exploring the local cuisine. No trip to Mykonos would be complete without taking a culinary master's class with a local chef! Not only will you learn the chef's secret recipes, but you will be taken on a complete culinary journey. Your day will start early in the morning as you follow the chef along with his market visit. From the butcher to the baker, you will see how the chefs select the best and freshest ingredients. You will get to buy seasonal vegetables and just-caught fish yourselves before heading over to the chef's private kitchen.

Spend a few hours learning the secrets of preparing a few local specialties, such as Baklava, Spanakopita, and Taramasalata. Then, to top it off, you will gain inside knowledge of the traditional practices and techniques for creating masterpieces!

Take a Yoga Class

Imagine waking up early in the morning and heading for a relaxing and rejuvenating yoga class. What makes the Yoga Classes in Mykonos extra special, however, is the incredible scenery of the Mediterranean sea before your eyes. A couples yoga class is a perfect addition to any romantic getaway. Especially in Mykonos, yoga is a great way to relax sore muscles from all the dancing and swimming you will be doing.

Regardless of whether you are a beginner or advanced, there is a bit of everything for everyone. Either way, you will quickly realize that the best yoga is in Mykonos, where you get to admire the sweeping views of the endless blue waters! You bet that you would want every morning to start like this!

Spend the Day Out at Sea

Last but definitely not least on our list of the top 12 unique and off-the-beaten-path things to do in Mykonos is spending the day out at sea. Surrounded by the crystal blue waters of the Aegean Sea, there is nothing better than heading out to sea. It allows for time spent escaping the busy hot Greek streets. If you want to meet other fellow travelers, book the half-day luxurious catamaran tour, where you will get to snorkel and explore the nearby islands. Many Mykonos visitors yearn to visit Santorini. If this is you, here is our list of the top 10 things to do in Santorini.

If you plan a romantic trip with your significant other, you might prefer the private luxury sunset cruise. As you are sailing away, you will be served a fabulous selection of traditional drinks and meals. So just sit back, relax and admire the sunset!

Additionally, if setting sail is up your ally, try looking at different cruises to take you from island to island. We have reviewed the Celebrity Cruise Apex Ship Mediterranean Voyage from a teen, and adult perspective.

Day 4

Luxury Catamaran Small Group Sailing with Food and Drink

9:30 AM	2:30 PM	5hr
Start Time	End Time	Duration

Depart from your hotel by air-conditioned minivan and travel to Mykonos new port for your Mykonos boat trip. Meet your professional skipper and crew, and find a comfortable spot on our modern sailing catamaran.

Sit back and admire Mykonian small white houses as your vessel pulls away from the dock. Relax and enjoy the sea breezes, and take snaps of the views as your catamaran cuts through the waves of the Aegean Sea. As you sail, enjoy our homemade wine or our traditional homemade drink that is popular in Crete island (RAKI). After a short sail across the north part of the island, we pass by the small island of BAOS, the pirate's island, then sail to the archeological site of Delos island.

As you arrive you will have a short stop in front of the site of Delos where you can take pictures of the archaeological site from the catamaran as our hostess will explain to you some history of the island.

Then we sail to the nearby island of Rhenia we drop anchor in a small beautiful cove with crystal clear turquoise water for swim and snorkel as we serve our delicious full meal freshly cooked on board.

As we arrive back we are pass by the famous little Venice for some amazing photos of Mykonos windmills and the old town. If you've chosen the sunset cruise, soak up the sight of one of Mykonos golden sunsets. Take pictures and enjoy the moment as the sun unravel.

Lastly, dock back at the port and finish your tour with a hotel drop-off.

About Paros and Anti-Paros

Paros and Anti-Paros

Sail south in this gorgeous Greek weather for the island of Paros and its beautiful sister island of tiny and charming Anti-Paros. Spend some time on the beach, or swimming in one of the lovely bays, before heading inland to explore this island whose natural beauty and fabulous footpaths connecting the villages are truly breathtaking. Some of the finest restaurants of the Cyclades can be found here.

Highlights

Paros:

Paros is one of the most popular islands of the Cyclades with whitewashed houses, hundreds of historical interests, crystal clear waters and above all hospitality of her inhabitants who are ready to welcome you and share their culture. Famous for her white marble production Paros has one of the finest marble qualities available in the globe.

The monastery of Panagia Ekatodapiliani (in Greek the word means that she has 100 gates) is a long-lasting legend saying that Saint Constantine (first emperor of Constantinople) built this church on behalf of her mother Saing Helene—since she was saved by a storm while traveling and she was rescued in Paros. According to the legend, the church has 99 doors and 1 that is hidden. The hidden one will be finally found and opened when the church in Agia Sofia (in Constantinople) will be orthodox again.

Naousa:

Naousa has a classy and cosmopolitan atmosphere. This is the most beautiful village of Paros if you are looking for a late afternoon walk through the white stoned alleys that bring you to after-dinner cocktails in one of the most well-recognized port towns.

Despite the tourism development, Naousa has kept her authenticity, her traditional character, and surely is must-see if you are visiting Paros as your sailing destination. Maybe she is not the quiet fishing village it used to be but surely she has a high quality that despite the mercantilism of the place still keeps her little taverns, ouzeries as well as her traditional atmosphere building together one of the best villages to visit in the Aegean.

Antiparos:

Antiparos became well known when celebrities like Tom Hanks, Bruce Willis, Pierce Brosnan, and many others bought a place on this little island. When you walk through the main village and visit the Cave of Antiparos going back to the 6th century BC you will understand why. Quiet yet colorful and charming, this little island is one of the places you need to visit especially. Drop an anchor and relax between Antiparos and Despotiko bay, taste great grilled fish in one of the port little taverns, along of course with some ouzo on the side.

HERAKLION

Istioploikos—For fine fare and refined flare set right on the harbour, Istioploikos is undoubtedly one of the best. A seaside location lets you enjoy the twinkling Aegean and the meandering boats, while the delectable modern Cretan cuisine is unforgettable, perfect for everything from romantic meals to family gatherings.

Visit Website - Istioploikos

Herb's Garden—Set high above the picturesque harbour of Crete's capital, atop the famed Lato Boutique Hotel, Herb's Garden is a magical culinary oasis amongst the glimmering lights of the city and the sea.

Local produce and delicacies are prepared with traditional care and a slight modern twist and served with a fine selection of wines, while the service and setting inspire a relaxed and comfortable atmosphere that is quite unequaled.

Visit Website - Lato Boutique Hotel

Visit Website - Herb's Garden

Taverna Alekos—Heraklion's hidden culinary gem is Taverna Alekos. Stepping inside is like stepping back to a time before tourism, where locals enjoy the relaxed, family-run atmosphere, local recipes, and delicious Cretan wines. A little tough to find, it's worth seeking out for that historic taste of Crete.

Visit Website - Taverna Alekos

Akrogiali Fish Tavern—One of the most hospitable restaurants on Crete, Akrogiali matches the charm of its service with a stunning seaside location and a selection of some of Chania's very best cuisine.

This is traditional fare done right: local produce, fresh-caught seafood delicacies, exquisite preparation, all accompanied by fine local wine and magnificent views.

Lithos—Another seaside delight is Lithos Restaurant. Tucked into one of the best-preserved buildings in Chania's Venetian port, Lithos draws in passersby with its delectable scents of culinary magic. Cretan recipes get a new life with creative touches from the expert chef, served up so tantalisingly that the dishes distract from the breathtaking view across the harbour.

RETHYMNON

Avli—Meaning “the garden” in Greek, Avli’s verdant design is doubtless one of the most paradisiacal on Crete.

This enchanting setting of plants and flowering trees can only be matched by the modern Cretan dishes, which are so creatively and artfully prepared and served it can be tough to touch them. But one bite and you'll be very glad you did. Finish off a thoroughly romantic meal with some delicious Cretan wine.

Taverna Katerina o Pontios—Probably the best restaurant on the island for Cretan cuisine prepared in the traditional way, this restaurant should not be missed.

An unassuming exterior hides a wondrous haven of culinary magic, where the finest local ingredients are transformed into dishes that you will dream of for years afterward. The only thing to do is to keep coming back again and again.

About Crete

Image credits: Ian Yates on Unsplash

INTRODUCTION

The island of Crete is Greece's largest island and home to Europe's first civilization more than 5,000 years ago. The island is scattered with world-class heritage sites ranging from the 3,500-year-old Minoan palaces and Roman cities to medieval castles, Renaissance towns and historic monasteries.

Located 210 mi/340 km south of Athens, Crete has become one of the most popular holiday destinations in the Mediterranean. Millions of vacationers from around the world choose this island every year for its excellent beaches, natural beauty and active nightlife. The island is ruggedly beautiful, and its historical sites have elegant architecture, notable statuary and fine mosaics.

LOCATION

The ports of Chania and Heraklion are among the most important ports in the western Mediterranean, and a large number of freight and ferry boats anchor there.

Apart from their commercial importance, they offer connectivity to mainland Greece. The island also has ports in Agios Nikolaos and Rethymno. At Heraklion's passenger terminal, cruise ship guests have access to free Wi-Fi and can use facilities such as luggage storage. Restaurants, cafes, car rental companies, taxi lines and a tourist information desk can be found there. The bus station at the port connects Heraklion with the main towns of the island.

SIGHTSEEING

Most visitors to Crete stop first at Heraklion because the main airport and seaport are located nearby on the island's northern coast. As a result, the capital city can be very noisy and crowded during summer. We recommend using one of the smaller towns as a base if you'll be staying on the island for several days. If you have time, visit Heraklion's fascinating historical museum (local history, folk costumes and paintings) and St. Minas, one of the largest churches in Greece. (The ceiling frescoes are painted in vivid colors.) Don't forget to stop at El Greco Park, a shady relief of greenery that contains a bust of a native Cretan artist.

You can also walk along the old city walls and visit the fortress the Venetians built at the port. Crete is such a big island (about 160 mi/260 km long by about 35 mi/60 km wide) that you could spend several days in various areas without getting bored.

East of Heraklion is the fishing village Agios Nikolas, and the adjoining luxury resort Elounda, home to some of the country's most exclusive hotels, and rightly called the St. Tropez of Greece. In Agios Nikolas, stroll around the lake, where you'll find several cafes with outdoor seating.

From Agios Nikolas (and also from Elounda) you can take boat tours to Spinalonga, a tiny island where the Venetians built a castle-fort in the late 1500s to fend off pirates and the Turks. Crete isolated (imprisoned, really) its lepers there from the early 1900s until 1957.

Visitors can tour the fortress, walk along the battlements and view the tiny medieval buildings where the lepers resided. It's a starkly beautiful and unusual place.

HISTORIC SITES

Gramvousa Island This uninhabited island is located off the northwestern coast. Its lagoon was once a haven to pirates. Be sure you pay a visit to the impregnable castle, built by the Venetians. Gramvousa Island, Crete Island. <http://www.gramvousa.com>.

Knossos A few miles/kilometers southeast of Heraklion is Knossos, the most visited site on Crete. Once the capital of the ancient Minoan civilization, its ruins date back to the 15th century BC. In addition to its age (it's 10 centuries older than the Acropolis), what's notable about Knossos is that some of the buildings have been reconstructed. The wealthy amateur archaeologist Arthur Evans, who uncovered the ruins in the early 1900s, wanted visitors to see what King Minos' Palace actually looked like. The reconstruction kicked up a controversy, with many archaeologists believing that ancient sites should be left the way they were found.

Most visitors, however, find Knossos fascinating—you don't have to use your imagination to envision what the palace's throne room looked like. Instead, you can walk through partially reconstructed buildings painted in authentic colors (black and red were common), with copies of mosaics and other artifacts in their original places. (Many of the authentic items are in the Archaeological Museum in Heraklion.)

Knossos is well worth stopping for—you can take a public bus from Heraklion, or go as part of an organized tour. If you go on your own, be sure to pick up a good guidebook or hire an official guide at the entrance. Spinalonga Situated in the Gulf of Elounda, the island of Spinalonga was once a leper colony. It's also the site of the ruins of a Venetian fortress.

Sights in ancient Greece, and especially Athens, take on a larger importance than in most other places in the world. They are histories of democracy, Western civilization and philosophy firsthand. You can't help but walk around the Parthenon and the rest of the Acropolis and dream about the great ones who have come before you and whose footsteps you're in.

Athens is a must-see on any European tour. The ancient and modern merge in this city in ways that are fascinating and sometimes overwhelming. Pollution wreathes the golden stones of the Acropolis and obscures views of the Saronic Gulf. Cars bleat and belch among ranks of concrete high-rises.

But then you turn down a cobbled lane and discover vine-swathed tavernas, tortoises trundling through ancient ruins and bazaars teeming with dusty treasures. Or perhaps you will encounter a sleek cafe, art gallery or an outdoor cinema that serves ouzo under the stars. Greece's capital has been reinventing itself, and the results could not be more charming.

The metro routes are extensive, and the stations dazzle with marble and antiquities. Congested downtown streets have been turned into pedestrian walkways, greatly reducing Athens' notorious smog and noise. Hotels, museums and archaeological sites have been revamped. Gentrified districts—such as Gazi—host cafes, clubs and chic restaurants, which even boast smoke-free sections.

Athiri

A true find for affordable modern Greek dining in trendy Gazi, Athiri occupies a neoclassical building with a leafy courtyard garden. The menu is short, and everything is prepared from locally sourced fresh ingredients—look for the risotto with cuttlefish and spinach, and duck leg with fig sauce and apple salad. The service is professional yet friendly.

Tuesday-Saturday 8 pm-1 am, Sunday 1-6 pm. $$$.

15 Plataion, Gazi, Athens.

Phone 210-346-2983.

Daphne's Restaurant:

Daphne's Restaurant Frescoed walls, somewhat kitsch decor, strolling musicians and terrace dining in a beautifully restored 1830s mansion with a charming walled courtyard. Celebrities who have flocked there to sample the international and traditional Greek cuisine have included Hillary Clinton and the Queen of Spain. Dishes range from meatballs in ouzo-flavored tomato sauce to more daring combinations, such as fried prawns in a crust of crushed almonds.

Daily 6 am-midnight. $$$-$$$$.

Most major credit cards.

4 Lysikratous St. (across from Hadrian's Arch), Plaka, Athens.

Phone 210-322-7971.

Hytra

In a stylish and subdued modern setting, the Michelin-starred young chef Nikos Karathanos celebrates Greek haute cuisine. He transforms wild herbs, fresh vegetables and other humble ingredients into some exceptional dishes.

Diners are advised to opt for the multicourse degustation menu, a hard-to-beat value at 62 euros (or 72 euros including two glasses of wine). On the menu, imaginative treatments of classic Greek flavors include smoked ham foam with carpaccio of sea bass, pork with orange-scented celeriac puree, and among the desserts, panna cotta flavored with cardamom and Greek coffee foam.

Daily 8 pm-3 am. Reservations recommended. $$$-$$$$.

Most major credit cards. 107-109 Syngrou Ave. (Onassis Cultural Centre), Athens.

Phone 210-331-6767.

Katsourbos

This exquisite eatery serves authentic Cretan cuisine in a refined dining room with an old tile floor and mismatched wooden tables and chairs. All the dishes are made from fresh produce, much of which is shipped over directly from Crete. Be sure to try the kolokithokeftedes (zucchini fritters), and if it's the right time of year, the stamnagathi (wild greens particular to the island).

The service is pleasantly discreet but friendly. You'll find it just a 10-minute walk south of Kolonaki, making it a good choice for lunch after a morning of museums. In summer it also has outdoor tables on the square across the street.

Daily for lunch and dinner. $$.

2 Amynda St., Pangrati, Athens.

Phone 210-722-2167.

Melilotos

A fine choice for lunch in the city center, close to Syntagma Square, Melilotos is popular with local office workers, it has a menu that changes daily—expect colorful creative dishes such as baked salmon with lentil and tomato salad, or chicken stuffed with figs and served with aromatic rice.

Monday-Friday noon-6 pm.

Kalamiotou 19, Kapnikareas, Athens.

Phone 210-322-2458

Orizontes Lykavittou

One of the city's most dramatic vistas can be found at Orizontes, which sits atop Lykavittos, the tallest hill in Athens. This restaurant and cafe has great views of the Acropolis and the seashores and offers a modern take on Greek and Mediterranean cuisine.

Daily for lunch and dinner.

Reservations recommended. $$$.

Most major credit cards.

Lykavittos Hill, Athens. Phone 210-722-7065

Sholarhio

This humble establishment doesn't even have a menu: Just pick mezedes from the server's tray. Wash down batter-fried eggplant, flaming sausages and marinated peppers with a bottle of Mythos beer or jug of local wine.

Daily 11 am-2 am. $-$.

Most major credit cards.

14 Tripodon St., Plaka, Athens.
