Tipping Guidelines Portugal

Gratuities in Portugal, while extremely welcome and appreciated, are not as much ‘expected’ as they are in other countries and are totally optional.

If you are happy with the service you have enjoyed and would like to show your gratitude to the people who made it a very special experience for you here below you can find the amounts we recommend for Tour Guides, Drivers and other special services.

Tour Guide Half Day Euro 20.00

Tour Guide Full Day Euro 30,00

Driver Half Day Euro 20.00

Driver Full Day Euro 30.00

Housekeeping staff 2 Euro/day

Hotel Staff, such as porters, should be tipped about 50 cents per bag for taking your bags to/from your room.

The above amounts are to be considered per service and not per person. Fiscal laws in Europe are extremely tough on this matter and this is the reason why these amounts cannot be included in the service costs and have to be paid in cash directly to the suppliers.

If you would like to ‘tip like a local’ at bars and restaurants then we suggest just leaving the change ie if your meal costs Euro 56 then just leave Euro 4; if the meal costs Euro 92 then just leave the Euro 8 change.

Day 3

Porto, Portugal's second-largest city, sits on the steep north bank of the Douro River, 195 mi/310 km north of Lisbon. It has an interesting port area and a nice, old-world feel to it, especially among the ochre and brown tenements stacked high on the slopes above the river. Porto's history predates the Roman occupation—in fact, Portugal took its name from the town.

There's a famous saying that sums up how the Portuguese feel about Porto (sometimes referred to as "Oporto"): "Coimbra sings, Braga prays, Lisbon shows off and Porto works."

Porto dates back to the fourth century when Romans ruled the day. Over the centuries, Porto developed along the hills overlooking the Douro river estuary; even today, a city stroll along the steep streets can turn into quite a workout. Notably, in 1996, Porto's historical Ribeira district was awarded World Heritage status by UNESCO.

SIGHTSEEING

It's fun to walk the narrow medieval streets around the Se (the cathedral). The Se has a nice Romanesque choir and Gothic cloister. Be sure to go inside the Renaissance church of Santa Clara to see its gilded wall decorations. The Sao Bento railway station is worth seeing for its tiles with historical themes.

Explore the area beyond the cathedral district. As you walk along the Avenida dos Aliados, admire its black-and-white mosaic pavement.

Other sights include the amazing interior of Sao Francisco Church, the Cedofeita Church (a restored Roman temple), the Casa do Infante (the house where Henry the Navigator was, according to tradition, born) and the Clerigos Church (climb to the top of its tower and you might recognize the spectacular view—it's often photographed because the church is the tallest religious structure in Portugal).

If you have time, visit the Palacio da Bolsa (the neoclassical Stock Exchange building and its over-the-top Arabian Room (designed in the Moorish Revival style that was all the rage in the 19th century), the Jardim do Palacio de Cristal (nice gardens and good views of the city) and the ethnographical museum (good folklore collection).

We also suggest walking along the banks of the Douro, where you'll see the rabelos (barges) carrying port from inland vineyards; riding the old wood-paneled street cars; and shopping in the Baixa for locally produced silverware and filigree jewelry.

HISTORIC SITES

Estacao de Sao Bento

The train station was inaugurated in 1915. The station's atrium is covered with 20,000 azulejos (glazed tiles) depicting scenes of Portugal's history. Praca Almeida Garret (Sao Bento metro station), Porto.

Ponte de Dom Luis I

Porto's most famous landmark, this wrought-iron bridge was built in 1886 and was designed by a disciple of Gustave Eiffel, the famous architect of the Eiffel Tower in Paris. The bridge is an amazing structure that resembles nothing so much as the Eiffel Tower laying on its side and spanning the Douro River. The top deck of the bridge is reserved for pedestrians and a metro line. It's a wonderful experience to take your time crossing the bridge, looking at the cityscape of Porto to one side and the port wine lodges on the opposite shore, while boats, including barcos rabelos, ply the river below.

Afternoon Porto Private Food and Wine Tour

Image credits: Pixabay

This afternoon you will have an authentic "taste" of Portugal. Explore northern Portugal's rich gastronomic history on a food tour around the Bolhão Market in Porto. Taste several regional specialties as you explore the various tascas—taverns—and foodie favorites.

We will reveal the stories that are behind our traditional dishes and their recipes. Meanwhile, discover our traditional grocery stores, where you will meet the locals and get to know the very best products used in our cuisine!

- Pick up at 14:30
- Visit the Bolhão Market and unveil genuine food in Porto spots/tascos.
- Taste regional specialties and get to know their stories!
- Discover, particularly, our olive oil and also the excellent Portuguese wines, such as the green wines, DOC Douro and, not to be missed for sure, the port wine.

TIMETABLE: 4,5 hours

INFORMATION: Tasting can be adapted to dietary preferences and according to your interests. Therefore, you can also experience the famous Francesinha upon request.

What is a Francesinha?

Porto's most famous and delicious sandwich, made in almost all the cafes and restaurants of the city and beyond, is also present in restaurants in neighboring cities such as Gaia and Matosinhos.

With so many Francesinhas on sale in the country, you can expect some variation in flavor and ingredients, depending on the region and the taste of the chef. In addition to these, other types of Francesinha have appeared over the years to please a growing public, such as the vegetarian Francesinha and Francesinha with seafood.

Private Transfer and Tour Porto - Cascais With 2 Stops

Image credits: Pixabay

8:30 AM

Start Time

Private Transfer Porto to Lisbon with stop in two authentic Portuguese Villages.

Villages Between Porto and Lisbon:

OPTION 1:

Obidos:

Obidos is considered to be one of the finest examples of a Portuguese walled town. Historically, Obidos was presented to the Queen of Portugal on her wedding day, a tradition that began with Queen Urraca in 1214 and continued until the 19th century. This royal patronage has left an enduring legacy of pride within the town, and today it is one of the most characterful towns of central Portugal. Walk along the narrow cobbled streets, traditional painted houses, and an imposing medieval castle.

Nazare:

Halfway between Lisbon and Porto, lies the stunning town of Nazare. Here on the Costa da Prata, or Silver Coast, the Atlantic ocean meets the land at her most powerful. Nazare is home to the largest surfing waves in the world, but you should still come to Nazare even if you're not a surfer.

The lighthouse on Praia do Norte is where you can see the monster waves crash into the cliffs. The lighthouse is also home to a small surf museum with surfboards and stories of famous surfers who had braved Nazare's monster waves.

OPTION 2:

Aveiro:

Nicknamed the “Venice of Portugal” due to its colorfully painted boats and winding canals, the charming town of Aveiro nevertheless has a unique personality all of its own. Located in central Portugal, just 75 kilometers south of Porto, this popular day trip destination is situated around the Ria de Aveiro lagoon famed for its salt, seaweed, and abundant fish.

Coimbra:

This lovely riverfront city in central Portugal is the country’s former capital, and home to a preserved medieval old town and the historic University of Coimbra. Built on the grounds of a former palace, the university is famed for its baroque library, the Biblioteca Joanina, and its 18th-century bell tower. In the city’s old town lies the 12th-century Romanesque cathedral Sé Velha

8:30 AM

Start Time

Full Day Sintra (Pena Palace + Regaleira entrance tickets included)

Pick up at your hotel in a comfortable vehicle for a transfer to the magical town of Sinta. Once you get to Sintra, you will be driven by its forested hillsides, enjoying a mystical walk into the depths of the Pena Park. At the top, your guide will go inside the Pena Palace with you.

After, you will have the chance to explore Sintra Old Town and taste some local delicacies like the "queijadas" and "travesseiros" (pastry). You can take your time walking its cobblestoned narrow streets, full of little shops with traditional Portuguese products.

You will then continue The Quinta da Regaleira, a decorative 20th century residence that is situated in the town of Sintra. The grand house is split over five floors and has an ornate gothic façade, but the real attraction is to the rear with the enchanting gardens. The gardens of the Quinta da Regaleira were styled to represent ancient secret orders, with hidden tunnels and concealed symbolism.

Day 7

Half Day Tour - Wine Tasting in Colares, visit to Cabo de Roca and Azenhas

1:00 PM

Start Time

Meeting Point

Hotel lobby

Today you will have a 1pm pick up at your hotel. Your driver will take you to visit the cape and Azenhas Do Mar for beautiful sightseeing. After this you will head to a local winery to participate in an authentic wine tasting and visit to the vineyards for approximately 2hours. After the wine tasting your driver will take you back to your hotel.

Colares produces what may well be Portugal's most distinctive still wines. The reds, made of the ramisco grape, are high in acid and powerfully tannic, so much so that they are aged for years in the cellars before they are released. The white wines — made from the malvasia de Colares grape, which is genetically distinct from other grapes called malvasia — are fresh, rich and likewise herbal and saline with depth and character. They do not require quite as much aging as the reds;

Colares is a traditionally prestigious wine region situated on Portugal's central Atlantic coast. It is famous as much for its sandy, phylloxera-free soils and ungrafted vines as the robust, tannic red wine it produces from the area's Ramisco grape.

Located at the southwestern tip of the Lisboa region, Colares and its vines lie within two miles of the Atlantic Ocean. The nearby Cabo de Roca point is the westernmost point in continental Europe, described by Portugal's greatest poet Luis de Camoes as onde a terra se acaba e o mar começa ("where the land ends and the sea begins"). The coastal DOC is just northwest of the city of Lisbon, and the more popular Alenquer and Bucelas DOCS lie inland, sheltered by the Serra de Montejunto hills.

Day 8

Explore Cascais Free Day

Image credits: Pixabay

Cascais (kush-kaish) has awoken from sleepy fishing village to much-loved summertime playground of lisboetas. Cascais is known to as “The Town of Kings and Fishes” because it was a small fishing town that found favour with the 19th century Portuguese nobility, who came here for their summer retreat. Thanks to this fact, the town is uncommonly rich in beautiful architecture, free museums and carefully maintained parks, on top of which, it’s surrounded by a varied coastline of impressive cliffs and beautiful, intimate sandy coves.

The old town is home to the medieval Nossa Senhora da Luz Fort and the Citadel Palace, a former royal retreat. Nearby is the whitewashed Nossa Senhora da Assunção church, with glazed azulejo tiles. Paula Rego House of Stories shows the Portuguese artist’s paintings in a modern building.

Optional Take Train Cascais to Lisbon

Trains leave every ten or twenty minutes during the day. The journey takes about 30 minutes along the coastline. There are no reserved seats on any suburban train from Lisbon to Cascais, and tickets cannot be bought online.

Approximate drive time - 3 hours

The Alentejo region is the largest and arguably least developed in Portugal. It spans from the Algarve towards the country's center and stretches from the Atlantic Ocean to the Portugal-Spain border.

Alentejo is known for its dramatically rugged western coast and is filled with farmland, vineyards, cork oaks, and olive trees. Unsurprisingly, many local adventures involve nature, but there are also villages oozing with traditional heritage.

Today, you will make your way back from Cascais to the beautiful town of Carvoeiro, passing through and stopping at a lovely village.

Evora:

Your guide will point out Evora's top attractions and famous sights. These include the Roman Temple, the fascinating Chapel of the Bones, the Gothic Cathedral of Evora, and Old Town's medieval World Heritage streets.

Less manicured and developed than some other resort towns in the Algarve, Carvoeiro is the place you see in those photos of southern Portugal's stunning coastline: hidden beaches dwarfed beneath massive limestone cliffs. It lives up to the postcards.

For 25 years, the best views in town have been from the Tivoli Carvoeiro, which is nested between two of those cliffs. After a complete reinvention, it's one of the most contemporary, stylish large hotels (248 rooms) in the region. And those top-floor suites now have gorgeous ostrich-egg bathtubs right in front of their floor-to-ceiling windows.

Tivoli Carvoeiro will provide its guests with a wide range of services designed to offer a unique and exclusive experience. . Priority check-in . Wi-Fi internet service . Elegant and contemporary decoration . Courtesy espresso coffee and wide selection of teas . Daily replacement drinks in free Minibar . Balcony with a panoramic view . IPTV entertainment system

Day 10

Free Day in Carvoeiro

Image credits: Pixabay

Carvoeiro is a picturesque and traditional Portuguese resort town, which is situated along a stunning coastline of golden beaches and dramatic natural scenery. Carvoeiro is a fantastic destination for visitors who are wishing a calm and relaxed holiday, within a characterful and charming town. The peaceful and welcoming ambiance of Carvoeiro makes it an ideal location for couples and families.

The majority of tourists visit Carvoeiro purely for a relaxed beach holiday, but there is a surprising amount to see and do within the surrounding region. This includes historic towns to discover, challenging hiking trails, exciting boat tours, or the thrill of the region's theme and water parks.

Day 11

Benagil Caves Kayak Adventure - Small Group

The pinnacle of our journey will be the stop inside the famous Benagil cave where you can leave the kayaks and take some wonderful pictures. Be aware the only way out on the beach inside the cave is by kayak.

Day 12

Optional Activity Luz and Lagos

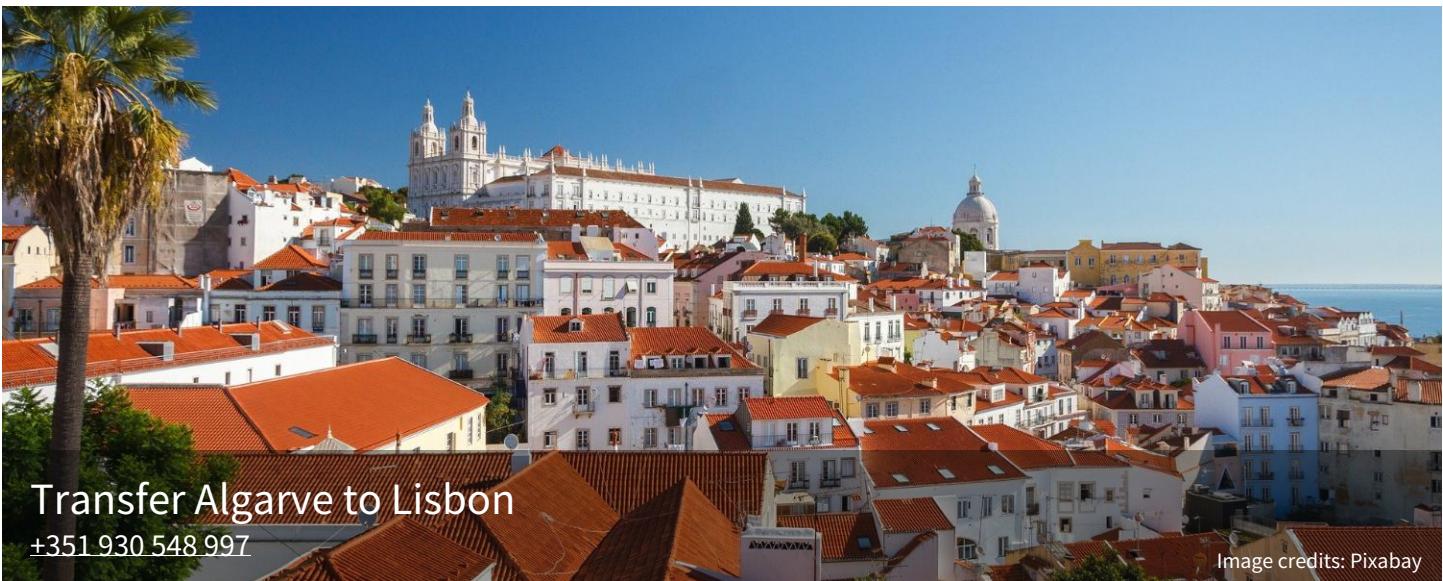

Image credits: Pixabay

Consider renting a car for the day or hiring a driver to explore lovely nearby villages.

Praia da Luz is located about 6 kilometers to the west of Lagos. Once a sleepy fishing village, Luz has largely hung up its nets. Since the 1980s the resort has expanded rapidly around the sandy beach which is now backed by rows of whitewashed apartments and villas, and a palm-lined promenade. It has to be said that despite all the development Praia da Luz still retains plenty of charm. The beach itself is a lovely stretch of fine sand that gently slopes into the usually calm sea.

Lagos is a town in southern Portugal's Algarve region. It's known for its walled old town, cliffs, and Atlantic beaches. Steep wooden steps lead to the sandy cove of Praia do Camilo. The nearby cliffs of Ponta de Piedade offer sweeping headland views and a lighthouse. Igreja de Santo António, an ornate 18th-century church, sits across from the Castelo dos Governadores, a castle with a baroque facade and watchtowers.

As visitors to Portugal walk Lisbon's hills or take one of Lisbon's vintage trams they'll find restored medieval facades, wonderful art-nouveau buildings, black-and-white mosaic sidewalks (known as calcada), fine museums and plenty of modern shops.

Lisbon's citizens seem to have absorbed their city's many-sided character. Visitors can witness the popularity of fado, the melancholy music that developed in Lisbon in the early-19th century. Though the performers sing about tragedy and distant glory, the audience is very much a part of modern Lisbon—a flourishing, fashionable business and leisure center.
