- For travelers from the United States, the official website of the U.S. Department of State (travel.state.gov) offers comprehensive information on passport requirements, including a passport validity checker tool. This tool allows you to enter your destination country and travel dates to determine if your passport meets the necessary validity requirements.
- Additionally, it is essential to familiarize yourself with any visa requirements for your destination country. The same official websites mentioned earlier will provide information on visa requirements and how to obtain them.
- We strongly recommend that you review the entry requirements for each destination you plan to visit, including passport validity, visa requirements, and any other specific documentation needed for entry. It is essential to allow sufficient time for obtaining or renewing passports and visas, as processing times may vary.
- Please note that failure to meet the necessary travel document requirements may result in denied entry or other travel disruptions. We encourage you to thoroughly research and comply with all relevant travel regulations to ensure a smooth and hassle-free journey.
- If you have any questions or need assistance regarding travel document requirements, our team is available to provide guidance and direct you to reliable resources.

Tipping Recommendations in Iceland

Image credits: Towfiqu barbhuiya on Unsplash

When visiting Iceland, it's important to understand the tipping culture and practices. Unlike many other countries, tipping in Iceland is not expected or mandatory. However, if you receive exceptional service or want to show your appreciation, leaving a tip is generally well-received. Here are some tipping recommendations for various services in Iceland:

- 1 Restaurants: Tipping in restaurants is not customary, as a service charge is usually included in the bill. However, if you feel the service was outstanding, you can round up the bill or leave a small tip of around 5-10% of the total.
- 2 Cafes and Bars: Tipping is not expected in cafes or bars. However, if you receive attentive service or want to show your gratitude, leaving a small tip is appreciated. You can round up the bill or leave a tip of about 5-10% of the total.
- 3 Tour Guides: If you participate in guided tours, it's not mandatory to tip the tour guide, but it's considered a nice gesture if they provided an exceptional experience. A tip of about 500-1,000 ISK (Icelandic Krona) per person is appropriate, depending on the length and quality of the tour.
- 4 Taxi Drivers: Tipping taxi drivers is not customary in Iceland, but rounding up the fare as a small gesture of appreciation is common. For example, if your fare is 2,300 ISK, you can round it up to 2,500 ISK.
- 5 Hotel Staff: Tipping hotel staff, such as bellhops or porters, is not expected in Iceland. However, if they assist you with heavy luggage or provide exceptional service, you can tip around 200-500 ISK per bag or as you see fit.

Remember, while tipping is appreciated, it's entirely voluntary in Iceland. The service industry workers receive fair wages, and tipping is not a mandatory part of their income. Ultimately, it's up to your discretion whether to tip and how much, based on your satisfaction with the service you received.

Day 2

Welcome to Iceland!

Image credits: Robert Lukeman on Unsplash

From the steaming hot springs and slumbering volcanoes to the ancient glaciers and grassy pastures; Iceland is a land of raw natural beauty, still echoing with the sound of Viking chants. This is a unique destination like no other place on earth, drawing together an eclectic collection of awe-inspiring sights into an island of just 103,000 km<sup>2</sup> in size. Where else on earth can one scuba dive crystal-clear glacial waters between two continental plates or be lowered into the heart of a volcano.

The rugged landscapes were shaped by the forces of the earth lava, fire and ice, resulting in dramatic moonscapes, towering waterfalls, geothermal lakes and magical ice caves which has captured the imagination of many Hollywood producers. In fact, enchantment is woven into the fabric of Iceland, which is rich in folklore tales of elves, fairies, and trolls. Two thirds of the sparse population of 368,000 are scattered across windswept villages and towns while one third resides in the vibrant cultural hub of Reykjavik, the capital. Iceland is the best place in Europe for whale-watching, with humpback whales, minke whales, northern bottlenose whales and the largest of all, blue whales, being a common sight in the icy waters. Cantering across fields and black beaches on Icelandic horses, a unique and robust breed, offers a profound connection with the landscape. Animal-lovers can also enjoy bird-spotting waterfowl, harlequin ducks, puffins and even golden-tufted Slavonian grebes.

More than 30 active volcanoes help support the countless bubbling hot springs and geothermal lakes. This geothermal power has been harnessed to create green energy for homes but also offers opportunities for relaxation and pampering in pools and saunas, beneath the Northern Lights or the pink hues of the Midnight Sun.

Westman Islands Full Day Tour

Meeting Point

Hotel Lobby

Today you will travel to Vestmannaeyjar (sometimes anglicized as Westman Islands) is a town and archipelago off the south coast of Iceland. Vestmannaeyjar is Iceland best kept secret with unique history, beautiful landscape and heartwarming and welcoming inhabitants. Westman Islands (Vestmannaeyjar) main island is called Heimaey and it has the population of around 4300. The Island is surrounded by 15 other uninhabited islands (although 6 of them have single hunting cabins) and around 30 rocks and skerries making our seabird life very rich and bountiful.

Vestmannaeyjar came to international attention in 1973 with the eruption of Eldfell volcano, which destroyed many buildings and forced a months-long evacuation of the entire population to mainland Iceland. Approximately one fifth of the town was destroyed before the lava flow was halted by application of 6.8 billion liters of cold sea water. Vestmannaeyjar are also famous for the largest puffin colony in the world. The puffins can be seen on the island between April and September. If you are traveling in Iceland during that time, visiting Heimaey to see the Puffins is definitely a must do!

Here you will take a RIB Tour around the islands. A RIB, or Rigid Inflatable Boat, is a lightweight and high-performance speed boat that can take you on thrilling journeys through the sea. As you bounce and weave over the ocean's waves, the nature and wildlife of Iceland beautifully unfolds around you; adventure and sightseeing in one incredible trip. Zip around sea caves and cliffs, past picturesque shorelines, or majestic, towering mountains. Along the way, you may have chances to spot puffins, gulls, seals, and maybe even whales as you zoom around the dazzling seascape. During the summer months, orcas and dolphins can be seen scouting the area, allowing you a closer look at these fascinating creatures while they graze the surface of the water. It's clear that Iceland's marine environment provides unparalleled views and amazing thrills, always giving you something new to experience!

Day 7

Superjeep to Thorsmörk Full Day Tour

Image credits: Jelle de Gier on Unsplash

Breakfast at Skalakot

Today your private super jeep driver will meet you and take you on an adventure into Thorsmörk Valley with a stop at Seljalandsfoss Waterfall.

Thorsmork is home to some of the most diverse and versatile trails in Iceland, allowing you to explore short and scenic paths, as well as more challenging and detailed ones. Here, all the most breathtaking natural wonders come together to form unrivaled views of the landscape. Mountains, volcanoes, glaciers, and sweeping valleys make up just some of the amazing features found in this area. As you look onto the scenery from any of the summits around Thorsmork, you'll find that the terrain takes on a fantastic palette of textures, rife with deep ridges, haphazard peaks, and a patchwork of thin streams. The nature is mesmerizing, conjuring thoughts of history and folktales that echo throughout much of Iceland's core. The air is fresh, the breeze is light, and the sights are endless. Lunch in the nature (packed lunch). At the end of the day you will return to your hotel.

Please note you will have two guides accompanying you for the day for different levels of hiking.

Day 8

Glacier Lagoon Full Day Tour

Image credits: Cassie Boca on Unsplash

Breakfast at hotel

Today you will meet your guide in the lobby and go passed Vik to explore the famous Glacier Lagoon.

The lake of the Glacier Lagoon Jökulsarlon has grown because of melting of the glaciers and has increased fourfold since in the 1970s. It recently became the deepest lake in Iceland, over 248 metres. The icebergs calve from the glacier edge and then move and fluctuates towards the river mouth along with the tide and the wind and get entrenched at the bottom. It's very beautiful and calming listening to the cracking sound of the icebergs when they move and float around. Especially its beautiful during sunrise and or sunset. That is such a spectacular sight and once in a lifetime experience. The icebergs are seen in two shades as milky white and bright blue, which depends on the air trapped within the ice and is an interplay of light and ice crystals. Beautiful seals and birds can also be seen swimming around in the lagoon. Doesn't this sound like a fairy-tale place?

Private Kayaking Excursion

Image credits: Job Savelsberg on Unsplash

On the other side of the road there is also a beautiful black sand beach where you can see ice-cubes and crystals that are washed up from the sea, which is actually very beautiful especially at dawn, sunrise or sunset because then light illuminates the icebergs. Sometimes this beach is called the diamond beach which is totally understandable.

Arriving at the Glacier Lagoon, you will once again change the perspective and explore this picturesque lagoon by private kayak, paddling amongst floating icebergs and wildlife, seals and birds.

Afterwards you will return head back towards the hotel. Depending on the time you will be able to have more sightseeing stops on the way back, such as the Fjaðrárgljúfur Canyon.

Day 9

Platforms have been installed to make the tunnel easily accessible, and award-winning lighting illuminates the path, clearly displaying the unique geological features inside. Every winter, spectacular ice sculptures are formed inside the entrance of the cave, making the experience even more breathtaking; and in the summer, the snow retreats and leaves the tunnel's raw beauty completely exposed. Explore each corner and crevice of this magnificent structure and marvel at one of Iceland's greatest wonders.

The landscape here comprises 100 different craters, caves, lava fields, towering cliffs, black sand beaches, and high geothermal activity. Most famously, you can find The Bridge Between Continents, a man-made bridge that connects the North American and European plates, allowing you to appear in two places at once!
