Key highlights include visits to Perivolos and Perissa Black Beach and the village of Emporio, which is the largest and one of the oldest villages on the island. It historically served as the island's major trade hub. Emporio is well known for its medieval fortress called the Castelli, built primarily in the 15th century to protect residents from pirate raids and invasions. The fortress features thick stone walls, narrow alleys designed to confuse attackers, and a church dating back to the 16th century within its walls.

Take in the scenic Caldera View path with medieval churches and the "Heart of Caldera" cave and also travel through Megalochori Village, Vlychada, and Akrotiri, finishing with time for swimming at one of the famous beaches.

Overall, this Southside tour combines cultural, natural, and recreational experiences with the added adventure element of an electric mountain bike ride, making it a great way to explore a different side of Santorini beyond the typical tourist paths.
