Tipping Recommendations France

TIPPING INFORMATION

Gratuities in France, while extremely welcome and appreciated, are not as much 'expected' as they are in other countries and are totally optional.

If you are happy with the service you have enjoyed and would like to show your gratitude to the people who made it a very special experience for you here below you can find the amounts we recommend for Tour Guides, Drivers and other special services:

Tour Guide Half Day Euro 20.00

Tour Guide Full Day Euro 40,00

Transfer (Driver) Euro 15,00

Driver Half Day Euro 20.00

Driver Full Day Euro 40.00

Housekeeping staff 4 Euro/day

Hotel Staff, such as porters, should be tipped about 1 Euro per bag for taking your bags to/from your room.

The above amounts are to be considered per service and not per person. Fiscal laws in France are extremely tough on this matter and this is the reason why these amounts cannot be included in the service costs and have to be paid in cash directly to the suppliers.

If you would like to 'tip like a local' at bars and restaurants then we suggest just leaving the change ie if your meal costs Euro 56 then just leave Euro 4; if the meal costs Euro 92 then just leave the Euro 8 change or 1-2 euros per person.

Proper Attire for Dinner

The dress for restaurants and casino is smart casual. No sportwear outfits (sneakers, bermudas not allowed).

Meeting Point

Pick up and drop off at your hotel.

To enter the fortified city you'll pass through the Boulevard gate, then the King's Gate to reach the "Grand Rue": the main street of the village of Mont Saint Michel. This main artery is entrenched between two tall rows of houses dating from the 15th and 16th centuries. If you make a right turn just after going through the King's gate you'll climb to the ramparts which turn around the mount. If instead you continue straight ahead, you'll pass by the St Pierre parish church, dedicated to the patron saint of fishermen. Le village also boasts four museums.

As you begin the climb to the Abbey having walked the length of the main street you'll come to the granite staircase leading past the Guard room to the Grand Degré. This is the platform in front of the Abbey church and from here your leg muscles will be rewarded with a wonderful view of the bay.

Upon entering the Abbey, you'll effectively ascend through time as you wander along the cloister, getting a feel for the monastic life by continuing through the refectory and the visitor's hall. The tour takes you through several other rooms before leading to the north-south staircase which is the main pathway through the heart of the Abbey and which leads to the walking room. You'll cross through the Knight's hall and end up in the chaplaincy.

After such a trip through history you'll want to have a bite to eat in one of the many restaurants on the mount. Afterwards you may enjoy a circular trip along the ramparts to enjoy the stunning views and explore numerous hidden architectural elements of this magnificent site. Entrance fees included.

Gordes:

This village can boast about being amongst one of the most beautiful villages in France. It has narrow cobbled streets which thread their way through tall houses; built against the rock, clinging onto its flanks and whispering the tales of a thousand legends. Gordes is also proud of its castle firmly planted in its very core and which reminds the passer-by of a past rich with conquests but also marked with the sufferings of its inhabitants. Today, the castle acts as both a Town Hall and a Museum sheltering the works of art of the painter Pol Mara. Gordes also extends its territory to include the Bories village, those curious igloo-shaped structures made of stones - no mortar; the Sénanque Abbey set in its green valley, the Bouillons oil press and the cellars of St Firmin's Palace. As for the soul, Gordes has sheltered many a famous artist such as André Lhote, Marc Chagall, Jean Deyrolle, Victor Vasarely and Pol Mara, who amongst others have found here some inspiration. Gordes is a highly recommended tourist destination, and thus because of its History, its exceptional geographical location, its high quality cultural activities as well as for its renowned hotels and restaurants. It must remain authenticable, maintain its Provençal traditions, and yet be open to a tourism, which knows to appreciate and respect.

Oppède-le-Vieux:

A perched village in the Luberon that absolutely must be seen. The village is not accessible by car, but next to old gardened terraces a car park has been built and there is also a beautiful landscaped garden. Growing here are 80 rustic varieties of Luberon herbaceous plants, shrubs and trees. Oppède-le-Vieux awaits you for a journey back in time!

The medieval and Renaissance houses, the 12th-century church, the ruins of the medieval castle, the wash houses and chapels of Saint-Laurent and Saint-Antonin create a timeless atmosphere. Those who climb the little cobblestone street up to the top are rewarded with a 360° panorama. Cycling and walking routes go through the village, where it is nice to stop in order to quench your thirst in the square.

Ménerbes:

When visiting Ménerbes you will notice that its rich historic past has been well-preserved. The Dolmen de la Pichouno (unique to the Vaucluse) shows that Ménerbes has been inhabited since prehistoric times.

You can admire the imposing citadel built between the 12th and 16th centuries and visit the Domaine de la Citadelle and its unique corkscrewmuseum!

Nicolas de Staël and Picasso both owned houses in Ménerbes and they have since been joined by other famous artists, musicians, comedians and writers.

Here you may wish to visit the truffle and wine house in the Luberon, a residence and knowledge center dedicated to wine and truffle production.

An interactive stand provides visitors with all the information relative to wine-making and truffles in the South East: history, wine-making methods, the vines, matching wines with food, wine-storing techniques and types of truffle.

Bastide de Marie (lunch fees not included)

Lacoste:

Stroll through its narrow streets full of history and admire the remains of the Marquis de Sade Châteaudun restored by fashion designer Pierre Cardin, its medieval heritage and its stone size de houses. Lacoste offers many activities, hiking in la Cedar forest, routes cycling tourism, animations, art galleries, tasting de wines...

Having suffered like the rest of the region the calamities of the fourteenth century "plague", wars and robberies., Lacoste was repopulated by the end of the 15th century by the Vaud from the High Alpine valleys. These Waldensian rallied to reform in 1532 were the pretext of implementing sack of the village during the expedition decided by the Parliament of Aix en 1545. Soon Lacoste will resume its activity and its economic growth with a Protestant majority population, which will grow, until the first world war, to achieve 600 inhabitants.

Roussillon:

Situated in the Luberon, in the Monts de Vaucluse, the village of Roussillon is surrounded by beautiful scenery. The village is classified as one of the most beautiful villages in France. Located in the heart of one of the biggest ochre sites in the world, Roussillon is famous for its magnificent red cliffs and ochre quarries. The reds, yellows and browns tones of the earth form a contrast with the lush green pine trees. The deep blue sky and the exceptional light quality make it a magical place. You can discover the unique heritage of Roussillon through the ochre path and understand the processing work of these pigments for the building and decoration by visiting the "Ochre Conservatory and Applied Pigments", in an old ochre factory. From your first steps in the village of Roussillon, you will be seized by its charm and its atmosphere. You will stroll with pleasure in the picturesque maze of streets and squares.

Bandol Wines Tour

9:00 AM	5:00 PM	8hr
Start Time	End Time	Duration

Meeting Point

Pick up and drop off at your hotel.

Full day private wine tour in Bandol area. Visit&Tasting in one of the 3 top wineries of the area. Scenic picnic with local organic farm produces, in the middle of the vineyards. Private tasting at Domaine Tempier and tasting in second family estate. Then, visit of other wineries or visit of the medieval village of Le Castellet.

Bandol Wines:

Bandol is a key appellation of the Provence wine region in far south-eastern France. Created in 1941, the title covers red, white and rose wines from roughly 1550ha of vineyards around the Mediterranean coastal town of Bandol. These are spread unevenly across eight communes, with the majority being located just north of Bandol itself, in Le Beausset, La Cadiere-d'Azur, Le Castellet and Evenos.

The Bandol wine region of France, located near the coast east of Marseille and Cassis, is one of Provence's most internationally recognized wine regions. Based around the fishing village of Bandol, west of Toulon, the Bandol AOC covers the production of 8 communes with silicon & limestone soils. Those soils and the warm, coastal climate are ideally suited for the late ripening Mourvèdre grape which is the major varietal of the region. For both the red and rosé wines, Mourvèdre must account for at least 50% of the blend, though most producers will use significantly more, with Grenache & Cinsaut usually filling out the rest of the wine's composition.

Bandol is famous for its red wines, which make up the majority of the appellation's output. The identifying feature of a Bandol red is that it has a high proportion of Mourvedre a required minimum of 50%. Using this quantity of such a spicy, powerful grape variety makes for a very characterful wine one that would be hard to create in any other area of France.

Domaine Tempier:

Located in the heart of the Bandol appellation, Domaine Tempier's 38 hectares are spread over several parcels facing the sea on steep, sun-drenched slopes. Domaine Tempier is one of the few mid-19th-century family-run wine estates that has stayed true to its past. Here we live as we always have done: according to the rhythm of the seasons, the work in the vineyards and the harvests. At Domaine Tempier, we practise the most natural wine-growing methods possible. The land is worked using a combination of traditional, mechanical and manual methods without herbicides. Our rational soil management techniques are based on sustainable development principles which avoid the use of pesticides. We firmly believe that nature must find its own biological balance. Vineyard treatments include sulphur against oidium, and copper, i.e. Bordeaux mixture, against mildew. The soil is worked on a regular basis according to the seasons and enriched with compost to improve soil structure and preserve microbial activity.

Le Castellet:

The village of Castellet is one of the Var region's top tourist attractions. This superb little feudal village perched on the tip of its promontory will enchant you with its typical Provencal picturesque setting. Not to mention its small squares lined with beautiful old houses that have been carefully restored with taste highlighting the old stonework. If you happen to visit the village around lunch time or dinner time, you are bound to succumb to the delicate aromas of Provencal cooking wafting through the open windows. Tomatoes, garlic, herbs of Provencal simmering in olive oil, you will easily recognise them and will have a difficult time resisting the call of the pleasant shaded restaurant terraces that you come across on your stroll!

The detail of the tour (from 9:30am to 3pm) :

Our day begins at the Cours Saleya market, while there is still a fresh morning breeze. The narrow maze of centuries-old streets that is the Vieux Nice opens up onto this splendid space lined with bars, cafés and fish restaurants on either side and market stalls down the center. “Le tout Nice” converges on the terraces at lunch, but early in the day it’s time for that famous Niçois street food, la socca (a chickpea-flour pancake), as you stroll through the market and admire the vivid displays of flowers, candied fruit and seasonal produce. Though the bigger stalls are the most dazzling thanks to their array of colors, what really interests us is the small producers’ stalls. The fruit and vegetables are not as uniformly shaped and the variety not as great, but every ingredient we’ll find here is firmly rooted in the region and much of it is organic. Depending on the season you might see untreated oranges, including bitter oranges for jam; real wild asparagus; fragrant Mara des Bois strawberries; tomatoes ripened on the vine; figs bursting with juice; and of course the mix of salad leaves known as mesclun (no Niçois meal would be complete without it). The classes are recommended by the travel guides Rick Steves, Frommer’s, Fodor’s, Lonely Planet, MTV and Time Out, as well as by Gourmet Magazine.

Place du Casino, 98000 Monaco

A gourmet take on fine Italian cuisine... Wild fish, langoustines, lobster, whole fish: seafoods of all kinds are married expertly with seasonal produce, from artichokes to cepes and aubergines... The menu will delight the most discerning of palates, and each dish is served with passion. Our sommelier will propose original selections of the finest wines to accompany the creations of Chef Saez-Manzanares, for a unique and refined dining experience.

To the rhythm of the casino... The Train Bleu is open for dinner and welcomes guests until the Casino de Monte-Carlo closes. While players appreciate the opportunity to take a quiet break from the tables, the Train Bleu is the ideal choice for anyone looking to complement their evening with a delicious, elegant dining experience.

Monaco's best-kept secret... Back in the early 1900s, the only way to reach the Principality was by rail. The Train Bleu is a faithful reproduction of a restaurant car, an elegant homage to that golden age. Everything, from the paintwork to the colors and wood finishings, harks back to the magnificence of the Belle Époque passenger trains. Here, only the view remains timeless, the Place du Casino remains a resplendent sight for the passengers.

The restaurant is inside the casino, they will have to show their ID at the entrance.
