Welcome to Florence

Today you will arrive in Florence

Area Overview

Florence, or Firenze in the local parlance, is a city of names. The Romans are responsible for the city's moniker, originally Florentia: "may she flourish." Spoiler alert: Florence did indeed flourish. And then some. Just conjure up some of the other names associated with the place: Michelangelo, Leonardo da Vinci, Rafael, Donatello, Sandro Botticelli, Filippo Brunelleschi, Dante, Giotto, and Masaccio, among many others. The capital of Tuscany—that über-romanticized region in central Italy—Florence is known as the "cradle of the Renaissance."

Given these giants of the art world, it seems hard to believe, but there is more to Florence than canvas and marble. This Tuscan city of almost 400,000 also is a very manageable, walkable city. One in which you can stroll across the Arno River up to Piazzale Michelangelo on a hill overlooking the city to get a view of the Duomo-dominated skyline and then criss-cross various piazzas, pop into some Gothic and Renaissance-era churches, perhaps take in some of that art at the world-class Uffizi galleries, and then plant yourself at a restaurant to tuck into some legendary Tuscan steak.

This city—this small-big city—has had an outsized influence on Western civilization. And anyone who comes here will likely leave a little bit (or a lot) influenced by this stately, creative Central Italian capital of cool.

Welcome to Rome

Today you will arrive in Rome

Area Overview

“Rome, a lifetime is not enough,” said Italian author Silvio Negro. Those who have stepped foot in this ancient city—whether it is one time or one hundred and one times—would certainly agree.

The Italian capital boasts an astonishing amount of iconic sights—the Coliseum, the Vatican, the Borghese Gardens, the Pantheon, the Forum, the Trevi Fountain, and the Spanish Steps, just to name a few. Rome's real beauty, though, is that bewildering blend of ancient and modern interacting with each other on a daily basis: the clownishly dressed Vatican guard chatting on his iPhone; the monk strolling down a narrow cobbled lane in Trastevere wearing wireless earbuds; selfie-stick-wielding tourists marching past the iconic marble stumps in the ancient Forum; the cacophony of Vespas buzzing around Piazza Venezia.

Rome is as equally modern as it is ancient; it's as equally chaotic as it can be tranquil (especially if you know where to hide); it's as equally astonishing as it is a workaday metropolis for locals living quotidian lives. Its restaurants are as equally fancy as they are no frills. It all gives this palimpsest of a city its particular sweetness—its La Dolce Vita—that can't be replicated anywhere else on the planet.

Welcome to Sorrento

Today you will arrive in Sorrento

Area Overview

This sunny seaside town of 16,000 is well known for its lemons, its views of the Bay of Naples, and its enchanting cafe-lined main square, Piazza Tasso. Sorrento also tends to get overlooked thanks to its geographical positioning between Naples and the Amalfi Coast, as tourists race from Naples and Pompeii to the fabled coast to see Positano and the like.

But those who stop in Sorrento will be rewarded. The laid-back town has a few interesting places worthy of visitors' attention: the church of San Francesco and its tranquil adjoining 14th-century monastery; the Baths of Regina Giovanna, the site of the ruins of an ancient Roman villa; and the Museo Correale, 24 rooms and four floors of the artistic treasures of an aristocratic family that once lived in this house.

But really, in Sorrento, the thing to do is to enjoy a long lunch, perhaps tucking into a bowl of gnocchi alla Sorrentina—little flour dumplings wading in shallow pool of tomato sauce studded with basil and local treccia cheese—and finished off with a small glass or three of locally made limoncello. That's the true spirit of Sorrento.

Private Capri Boat Tour Final Date TBD (Ziesmer family joining)

Experience the enchanting beauty of Capri on a private boat tour with a personal English-speaking skipper, crafted for travelers seeking a personalized and luxurious day on the sea. From the moment you set sail, the azure waters of the Tyrrhenian Sea open up around you, offering breathtaking views of the island's stunning coastline, hidden caves, and dramatic cliffs.

Your professional skipper, fluent in English and well-versed in the region's history, guides you on a journey filled with local legends and insider knowledge. Glide along the famous Faraglioni rock formations, marvel at the natural arches carved by centuries of waves, and discover secret coves only accessible by boat. The skipper will take you to the island's must-see attractions, including the iconic Blue Grotto, where the sunlight creates an ethereal, electric-blue glow inside the cave—a sight you won't forget. Customize your itinerary to include stops for swimming and snorkeling in secluded spots, or simply relax on deck, soaking in the sun with provided amenities. The boat is equipped with comfortable seating, towels, refreshments, and a shaded area, ensuring a perfect, hassle-free experience.

You'll have the flexibility to adjust your pace, whether you want to linger in the tranquil waters or explore every corner of the coastline. Embrace Capri's natural wonders in privacy and comfort, making memories that will stay with you long after you've returned to shore. On board you can find soft drinks, snacks, and snorkeling equipment.
